TO HER FIN--REST.

The Herald learns with sorrow of the death of Miss Belle Vaughan at her home on Mud Lick, near Flat Gap, which occurred on last Friday, September 22. She had lingered for almost a year with the fatal malady, consumption.

The deceased was an active and zealous member of the M. E. Church and for several years had taught the infant class in the Sunday school at Cannon Chapel, near her home. Her beautiful christian life and cheerful and lovable nature made her known to a host of friends all over Johnson county. She was specially known and loved by many of Paintsville's good citizens and church people and was akin to many people of the town.

The funeral was held last Sunday at Cannon Chapel and was conducted by Rev. William Walker, formerly pastor of that church and personal friend of the deceased. The burial was in the family cemetery near the home.

Her father was Judge H. S. Vaughan, who died three years ago. She was a niece of Judge Walker, of this city. Her brothers and sisters living are Bascom Vaughan, Sandy Vaughan, Jr., Fred A. Vaughan, Roscoe Vaughan, Mrs. Patton Williams, Mrs. Hamp Muncy, Mrs. Marion Williams and Miss Maud Vaughan, the last named having been a member of the public school faculty of this city.—Paintsville Herald.

The deceased had a number of relatives in Lawrence county, her mother, who was a Burgess, having been born and reared here. A sister, Mrs. Hamp Muncy, formerly resided on the Busseyville road not far from this city.

OUR SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

Reports of Teachers.

Rocky Valley school, Scott Boyd, teacher, second month closed with an examination. All pupils did well. The average for the month was 43. Six visitors were at the school during the month. Supt. O'Daniel and Trustee Gid Williamson made a visit to the school. The school recently gave a "pic nite" at which $4.75 came into the "exchequer." This amount will be used toward purchasing a dictionary for the school.

Terryville, division 4, district 11, H. R. Skagga, teacher, average for month 39 7-10. Pupils are doing good work. The teacher has some alphabetical cards which are given to the small children and thus keeps them interested and busy while at the seats. He has other "seat work" which keeps pupils busy.

Mrs. A. M. Davis, Ellyses, has enrolled 64. The district, according to the census enumeration, has but 60 pupils. This enrollment seems to show that the school has a teacher who believes in going out among the patrons of the district and getting them interested in the school. The average for second month was 38. The busy season among the farmers caused the average to fall below what it was the first month. Parents are interested and daily attendance is on the increase. On Wednesday night, Sept. 20, Supt. O'Daniel gave a lecture. Although the district had only short notice of the lecture more than one hundred people were present. The next day Mr. O'Daniel visited the school. His visit aroused great interest among patrons and pupils.

We are glad to hear that a number of schools are going to establish libraries. Next week we shall give a list of good books with prices, publishers' names and addresses. The list will contain books suitable for all the grades of the schools.

All communications for this department should be addressed to J. B. McClure, Louisa, Ky. Communications received later than Monday evening will likely have to wait till the following week to appear in this department.

Mattie, Ky., Sept. 25, 1911.

Mr. J. B. McClure, Louisa, Ky.,

Dear Sir:—If you think the following worth the required space in our School Department Column, you may enter it.

The census enrollment of my school is 87. My enrollment the first week was 76. The attendance was good until fodder pulling and bean picking time came on when the attendance began to decrease. I knew with whom the fault existed and took the time and trouble to visit as many of the patrons as I could and wrote notes to others asking them to come to the school house Friday afternoon to consider, with me, a question of vital importance to the school. I never mentioned in the invitation what the question for consideration would be. Several came and after showing them the vacant seats I appealed to them to help me devise some plan to bring every child of school age in the district to share the benefits of the school. I gave them my opinion of parents who would not co-operate with the State in its effort to make strong men and women of their boys and girls.

I turned the school over to them for the afternoon. All engaged in discussing the shameful situation and, along with other things mentioned, the Compulsory School Law was given due consideration and a determination expressed to see to its enforcement.

It was suggested and agreed to by the patrons who were present that they would come to the school at least one Friday afternoon of each remaining month of term and, otherwise, do all they could to increase interest among indifferent parents and to make this year a "counter" on the educational interests of the district.

Result: The following week the attendance had increased over one half on the previous week and interest is still growing on every hand. I give this in answer to a question I read in the School Department. "How can I secure a better attendance?" This was my plan and I am proud of the result.

Respectfully,
J. M. MOORE, Teacher,
Mattie School.

I have had some inquiries from teachers as to who must prepare the questions the teachers are to use for their monthly examinations. The Course of Study recommends that they be prepared by the Supt. at the expense of the County Board of Education.

Now, I wish to say to the teachers that I think it advisable for the teachers to prepare their own questions for the first part of their schools for several reasons. In the first place the questions should only cover the work gone over in the schools and while many of the teachers are following the Program and Course of Study to the letter and have covered practically the same number of pages in each of the Text Books, many others have not yet been able to follow the Course of Study exactly and have reached different points in the Text Books.

While I regret that this is the case I am sure that almost every teacher in the County is making some effort at least to follow the directions and recommendations of Course of Study and I realize that it will take time and earnest effort on the part of the teachers to get all our schools running on a uniform system as contemplated in the Course of Study, and until this has in a measure been accomplished by the teachers, it would be impracticable for the schools to all use the same list of questions, prepared uniformly at this office. So each teacher must prepare his own questions, at least for the first two months' work and possibly the third month, unless I send out the questions two or three days before the close of the third month you will have to prepare your own questions for the third month also, and use only one day—the last day of the month for examination. Your third examination must be held Friday Oct. 13, 1911, regardless of a few days you might have missed. They must be held in the future on uniform dates. Otherwise I would not know when to send out questions.

If any teacher has failed thus far to hold his monthly examinations, he will under no circumstances be excused from holding them. In the future and his pay will be withheld until the trustee certifies under sanction of his oath that the examinations have been held.

I want every teacher in Educational Division No. 1, to report to Prof. J. B. McClure by Monday of next week, the name and general average of the boy and girl in each grade in your school who received the highest general average and it will be published in the school department.

I have several excellent school charts in my office that I will give out Saturday to the teachers calling for them who have no chart at all in their schools. First come, first served. I am only in the office on Saturdays, as I am visiting schools during the remainder of the week. I also have a few of the Term Report Cards in my office which you can have at the rates of 50 for 30c or you can write J. R. Holcomb and Company, Cleveland, O., for same. Now I trust every teacher in the county will have these or similar report cards before time to hold the next examination. If you expect the best results from your work you can not afford to be without them.

The libraries to be furnished free to the ten districts which Prof. Coates will supervise are expected to arrive here by Saturday of this week and the teachers are requested to call at the Superintendent's office and get them.

PUBLISHED AS A WARNING.

At Getaway, O., Overell Ellis, aged ten years, was shot through the stomach and received such wound that his death followed almost instantly. The shooting was done by his little cousin, Raymond Ellis, who is but seven years old, and it was done by the "harmless unloaded gun."

The boys were playing together and the little boy got hold of the gun, and supposing, of course, that there was no charge in it, he placed it against his cousin and pulled the trigger and the rest followed.

The Judge O'Brien residence is being moved a short distance west of the place where it formerly stood. During its travels the family will occupy the nearby property known as the Mordecai Wilson house. It is the intention of Judge O'Brien to erect a concrete block residence on the site of the old home.

AFTER MANY DAYS

The old times of ante-bellum days were recalled to some place quite recently by the chance of a well-to-do looking man about 60 years of age. He made some inquiries concerning some of the old of this neighborhood, and became known that in his boyhood he was the "pals" of the late Col. William Vinson, a queer, doesn't it? Properly he and several others of belonged, in days "before" to Col. Vinson. He was known as Mose Vinson, and he and Vinson, of Louisa, were together and of the same 1860 he was sold to a trader carried South and sold according to the custom of days he took the name of "Marster," but Mr. Vinson told the incidents here could not remember what the name. The man now lives near Galves Texas, and is the owner of a horse ranch. He is an uncle of Garred the cook at the Brunson. Mr. Vinson asked him if he remembered an incident which occurred during some of their prison a sand bar in Tag. He quailed, "Do you mean about the pie?" This showed the idea of the former chattel beyond doubt. Ask Farrow to tell it. This was the first and probably the man's last visit to the scene of his childhood.

REMEMBERED IN THE WILL.

Alfred R. Hildreth, of Nicholas county, died on the 26th of August. By will he left his property, valued at $5000, to his wife during her life. At her death the entire estate was to go to A. H. Miller, a magistrate of this county. From a notice recently received by Mr. Miller it is thought that the brothers of Mr. Hildreth are about to contest the will.
